CAR BRUSHES MAN OFF TRACK

Eastbound I. & C. Limited Hit David Margison, County Poor Asylum Inmate, Last Night.

WANDERED AWAY FROM FARM
Escaped Without Any Injury Even Though he Stepped in Front of Car—Has Cancer.

Stepping in front of the east-bound limited I. & C. traction car, due here at 9:20 o'clock last night, when the car was only fifty feet distant from him, David Margison, seventy-one years old, an inmate of the county poor asylum, was brushed off the track by a glancing blow and alighted in the ditch wholly uninjured. He was removed to this city in the car which hit him and later returned to the county asylum, where he was cared for and put to bed, after he had been identified by the poor farm physician, Dr. E. I. Wooden.

Margison is suffering with an ugly looking cancerous growth on his face which has eaten out his left eye, the left side of his nose and, in fact, the whole left side of his face. He was taken to the county poor farm only yesterday morning from the George Campbell farm, where they had found it impossible to care for him with his terrible disease. He was assigned to a room and put to bed last night. The authorities at the farm know nothing more of his actions until he was brought there last night after having struck by the car.

It is supposed that Margison became restless during the night and arose, dressed and started back to his old home. It is very evident that he started east on the traction line as the accident occurred at stop thirty-one, which is a short distance east of the poor farm.

According to Motorman Cartmel's story, Margison suddenly appeared on the track about fifty feet ahead of of his car, when it was running at the usual rate of speed made by limited cars. The motorman says that Margison emerged from the little shelter house at the stop, but that the car had struck him before he could hardly realize what had happened. Cartmel says that Margison had blood streaming down his face which led him to conclude on the instant that the man had been struck by a car previously. Cartmel declares that when he saw that bloody face appear in the range of his headlight, he immediately thought that the man was the victim of an accident and that he was running about senseless and did not know what he was doing. He stopped the car, picked Margison up and brought him back to the city.

It so happened that Dr. E. I. Wooden was found at once and soon identified the victim of the accident as

ATTRACTS LARGE CROWDS

Glenwood M. E. Church Revival, Center of Interest.

The revival meeting being held in the Glenwood M. E. church is attracting quite a deal of attention. The church has been crowded every night and this year's meeting promises to set a record. On Sunday afternoon, Evangelist Baker addressed the largest body of men that ever attended a public meeting in Glenwood. Already there have been a number of conversions in the meetings. The meetings begin at 7:15 o'clock.

Margison, who he had treated at the county asylum that very day for cancer. A hasty examination proved that none of his injuries were very serious and he was taken back to the poor farm before he was cared for.

Even though he is seventy-one years old, is very poor and has a dread disease which is gradually sapping his life away, Margison showed remarkable vitality while the physician undressed him and examined his body. He escaped without even a bad bruise. He did not complain of any pain. The attending physicians believe that he would have frozen to death last night if the car had not hit him, as he had on no overcoat and no underwear, only a shirt and a light suit of clothes shielding him from the cold.

The bloody condition of Margison's face, when the motorman saw him, is explained by the fact that he continually sticks his fingers in the wound on his face and causes it to bleed. The physician was compelled to tie his hands to the bed last night to keep him from bothering the terrible sore on his face.

PLANS TO REMODEL HARDWARE STORE

A. G. Haydon, Owner of Morris and Bassler Business, Will Make Several Changes.

PLANS A MODERN INTERIOR

A. G. Haydon is just now preparing to take charge of the Morris and Bassler hardware store in Main street which he recently purchased. The work of invoicing and settling up has been occupying the time of the new and old owners.

Before Mr. Haydon finishes, he expects to make a modern and up-to-date store of the place. He will almost completely remodel the interior by placing in new shelving and making several other changes which he has planned. Mr. Haydon has been in the wholesale and retail business for the past fourteen years and is well acquainted with the retail end of the business in particular. John Moore, who has been employed in the Havens and Riggs store for the past fifteen years, will work in the Haydon store.

SCOVILLE NOT SERIOUSLY HURT

Reported That Noted Evangelist Well Known Here Did Not Lose Eyesight in Accident.

STORY GREATLY EXAGGERATED

The report which was circulated in Muncie in regard to the serious injuries received by the Rev. Charles R. Scoville in an automobile accident were greatly exaggerated, according to word received here Sunday, says the Muncie Press. Upon reading of the accident, the Rev. W. H. Allen of the Jackson Street Christian church, wired to ministers in Kansas City asking about Dr. Scoville's condition. Mr. Allen received a telegram Sunday afternoon stating that Dr. Scoville had been injured, but that his injuries were very slight.

Dr. Scoville is well known in Muncie, having conducted a series of revivals here a few years ago. He is known as one of the best evangelists in Indiana and has preached in many parts of the State.

In a new London club almost everything is done by electricity, even the waiters being electrical.

FAKE PRIESTS VISIT THE CITY

Strangers in the Garb of Churchmen, Declare They are Working For Mission.

CALL ON THE REV. J. W. TURNER

He Discredits Their Story, Gives Them Warning and Calls Police—No Trace of Them.

Much has been heard lately concerning a set of men claiming to be priests who have been operating their graft in different parts of the State. Two men appeared in this city today, posing as priests and the police have every reason to believe that they are the ones who have caused trouble in other cities.

One of the men went to the home of the Rev. J. W. Turner and tried to obtain money for a foreign mission, saying he was a priest engaged for that work. Rev. Turner had heard of the fake priests working in other places and promptly told the man that he could not help him and as a warning told him he had better get out of the city before the police were notified.

Two foreigners, dressed as priests, inquired at the traction station, the way to the Lake Erie depot this morning and the description fits that of the man who called on the Rev. Turner. They were dressed in the garb of a priest and talked with a foreign brogue.

The police tried to locate the two men, but no trace could be found and it is thought that they left for more fertile fields.

Stories of fake priests all over Indiana have been rife for the past few months. In some cities in this section of the State they have worked successfully and have actually made their story look so good that they received liberal donations. Since it has been discovered nearly every place in the State that the priests are not what they seem, it is not very likely that they will meet with much more success in their project.

RUSH COUNTY HAS TWO BOYS THERE

But Wayne County Sends 50 Young Men to Purdue For Farmers' Short Course.

SAID TO BE RARE OPPORTUNITY

The sight of fifty young men from Wayne county going to Lafayette to attend the six weeks' course in Purdue University known as the Farmers' Short Course, should at least make Rush county envious. The young men passed through Indianapolis yesterday on their way and were shown through the legislature. The picture of the crowd appeared in the Star this morning.

So far only two young men in Rush county have been reported as intending to take advantage of the rare opportunity. Earl Harton, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Harton will take the course, as will Blaine Reeves living near here. Young Reeves will leave next Friday for Lafayette.

JESSE PUGH IS THE ONE BIG HIT

He And His Company Take Rhinelander, Wis., by Storm and Leave Wreckage in Wake.

NEW MUSE VISITS INDIANA

Local Man Is Praised For His Versatility With Excellent Baritone Voice and in Reading.

The following, taken from the Rhinelander, Wis., New Worth, will be of interest to local people and tells of the success of a Rushville man:

The late lamented Mr. Twain once said that if one wanted a sure bid for literary celebrity he must be born in Indiana.

After hearing the Jess Pugh Company Monday night one is lead to think that the above should be amended to include music as well and the Indiana and Illinois people who composed the entertainers on that occasion.

Mr. Pugh is a reader and with a splendid baritone voice, Miss Lathrop the soprano, charming and vivacious with her flute like voice of wonderful sweetness; Miss Kellogg, the violinist, who handles her instrument like a virtuoso, makes a trio of artists that are rarely found in one concert company.

Mr. Pugh demonstrated his dramatic ability in his reading of Kipling's "Light that Failed," and his singing and talking number from Luder "When I Get Back Again to Bonnie Scotland," demonstrated his talented versatility to the best degree.

Miss Lathrop has a winning personality that captivates her audience before she sings a note and her conquest is complete when in her solo work she displays the wonderful compass and purity of tone of her voice. Music lovers in her audience will not soon forget her singing of "Voices of Spring."

Miss Kellogg plays the violin as it is played by few women and her work in this line ranks high not considering her youth which gives her abundant time to attain a high pinnacle in the art in which she displays such excellent talent.

Every number in the program was encored enthusiastically and if the Jess Pugh Company ever play a return date in Rhinelander they will be assured of a big audience.

GIVES EXHIBITION AND LOSES HIS TOE

St. Paul Man Shows How Easy it is to Remove Ax Handle and Suffers.

TOE ROLLED OUT OF HIS SHOE

Joseph Eck, living at St. Paul, south of this city, lost a toe this morning in a peculiar manner. He was demonstrating to several friends how easy it was to remove the handle from an ax when the sharp blade fell across his right foot. He felt but little pain at the time, but when he removed his shoe on going home at noon the small toe rolled from the shoe, while the second one was hanging by a thread of skin.

OPEN MEETING AT CADIZ

Evangelist Cole of This City Will be Associated.

The Rev. W. R. Corter of Ligonier, Penn., and H. W. Cole of this city, evangelists, began a series of revival meetings yesterday at the Christian church in Cadiz, Henry county. The meetings will continue indefinitely. The Rev. Mr. Cole will go later to participate in the meetings which opened with much interest.

DID NOT EVEN PUT QUESTION TO MAYOR

Owner of Reno Fight Films, Foiled in Connersville, Approaches Local Theater Owner.

FELT SURE, NOTHING DOING

Poor Connersville fight fans. They did not get to see the late and lamented battle at Reno as told by the moving picture last night as they thought they would. But they did better than Rushville fans for they had a snife of what it might be, while Rushville followers of the ring must be content with not even that.

The fight pictures were billed for a Connersville nickel last night and up until the time the two daily papers went to press last night the mayor had taken no action in regard to the showing of them. Shortly before supper, he ordered that the pictures should not be run.

The manager of the films came to this city as fast as an I. & C. car would carry him, but it was of no avail. He approached Grand M. Carr, owner of the Star Grand and told his plaintive tale. But the local manager could give him no satisfaction as he said he knew Mayor B. A. Black would not allow the introduction of the pictures. The manager said that he was going to steer clear of Indiana and "hit the trail" for the West where he felt sure there would be no opposition to his show.

ANNOUNCE NEW MINISTER

Rev. C. A. Burkhardt to be Pastor of Manilla Christian Church.

The Rev. Carl A. Burkhardt of Tipton has been engaged as pastor of the Manilla Christian church for the coming year and will occupy the pulpit every second and fourth Sunday. The pastorate there has been empty since the first of this year. The Rev. Mr. Burkhardt is a graduate of Butler College and for the past three years has been filling the Christian church pulpit at Fenns, Ind., with credit to himself and the church. The Rev. E. E. Kuhn of Colfax was the minister at the Manilla church last year.

Mrs. Eunice Moor is recovering from an attack of pneumonia.

SOME LEMON.

H. C. Grady, a Manilla drug-gist, has a four-year-old lemon tree that has grown some fruit. There is one lemon on it which is six inches high and is fifteen inches in circumference. Although the tree is only four years old, it is twenty inches high. Last year it produced one of the largest lemons grown in the State of Indiana.

LOCAL TEAM MAY ENTERS CONTEST

Indiana University Will Hold Basketball Tournament, Which Will Decide Championship.

TO BE HELD MARCH 10 AND 11

High School Will Play Connersville Friday Night in First Contest of the Season.

Indiana University is planning to hold a basketball tournament March 10 and 11, which will determine the State championship among the high schools. The meet will be held under the auspices of the Boosters Club and promises to surpass anything of its kind ever held in this State. The State has been divided into sections and the best team from the various sections will meet in the tournament. Only those schools which are members of the State High School Athletic Association will be eligible to participate. A suitable trophy, emblematic of the State championship will be presented to the winning team.

Rushville is placed in section No. 9, which includes Martinsville, Mooresville, North Vernon, Madison, Lawrenceburg, Greensburg, Greenfield, Morristown, Hope, Connersville, Columbus, Franklin and Shelbyville. In order to get to represent this section the local high school would have to make a good showing against the teams from the e cities.

The local team, it is said has the best line-up they have had in years and if they should go to Bloomington they would stand a good show of winning the State championship. The school authorities have not given the proposed tournament much thought, but if the team makes a good showing, and there is no reason why they should not, they will probably be allowed to enter the meet. The team will have the first chance of showing what it can do Friday night when they will play Connersville. This game will be an important one as both teams are in the same section as outlined by plans for the State meet.

A similar meet was held last year by Wisconsin University, at which the best teams in the West participated. Crawfordville high school represented Indiana and came out with second honors.

STRONG MAN WAS STRONG LAST TIME

F. B. Franks, Who Was at the Star Grand Last Summer, is Said to Have Lost His Life.

MACHINE RAN OVER HIS NECK

Rushville people will remember F. B. Franks, the strong man, who appeared at the Star Grand theater last summer. As an advertisement Franks pulled off an unusual stunt in lying down in the street in front of the theater and allowing an automobile to run over him.

The trick was successfully worked here on both nights that the strong man appeared at the Star Grand and after the machine ran over the man's body he got up, none the worse.

It has been learned, however, that Franks tried the trick once too often, and that he met his death in an Illinois town three weeks ago. The automobile skidded and passed over the man's neck, breaking it and causing instant death.

And he it said to the honor of the men present that they gave Mr. Baker their undivided attention throughout and several a word or two at the close of the meeting heartily endorsed denouncing the sin so much practiced by the boys and men of our country. His admonition was to stop the practice if you are engaged in it, and if not to advise others to stop it. His plea to fathers was to enlighten their boys to never engage in the practice of it. Some of his statements were to the effect that 75 per cent. of the convicts in penitentiaries and asylums were there either directly or indirectly from the evil effect of the practice of this "secret sin." His statement of being a better American than any one present was proven by he himself giving his own biography briefly. That he was born in London

HOUSE COMMITTEES NAMED

Appointments of Clerks, Doorkeepers and Other Aides Announced and the Favored Ones in Their Places—Opening Session of Week in Senate Made Brief in Respect to Memory of the Late Senator McCullough.

Indianapolis, Jan. 10.—After a recess since Friday noon, both the senate and the house convened yesterday afternoon, and in both branches an effort was made to get the legislative wheels well oiled so that they could be started promptly. Virtually all the members who went home for Sunday were in their seats, and most of the employees, who had been given notice of their appointments, were in their places.

In the house Speaker Veneman was determined to set things moving at once. He spent all his time since the house adjourned on Friday in preparing his committee list, which he did not complete until shortly before noon. He announced it shortly after the house was called to order.

The "punder committee," which has been exalted by the appellation of the "executive committee," at the expressed wish of the Democratic party leaders, filed its report on the convening of the house, but as the list was completed shortly before noon and the appointees apprised of their being placed on the list, the reading didn't arouse a great amount of interest. Mark Phippen, assistant clerk, had placed the most of his helpers, and J. J. Walsh, chief doorkeeper, had all of his men in place.

Memorial exercises in respect to Senator Carroll K. McCullough of Madison county, whose death occurred since the last session of the legislature, marked the session of the senate. The House Committees.

Speaker Veneman has announced the various standing committees of the houses, of which the following are chairmen:

Committee on elections, Spencer; ways and means, Cravens; judiciary, Corr; organization of courts, Mitchell; banks, McMullen; building and loan and savings associations, Brenaman; education, Cook; Indiana reformatory, Thornton; state prison, Faulkner; swamp lands, Biddle; military affairs, Tingle; claims, McGinnis; trust funds, Ault; fees and salaries, Merriman; sinking fund, Stevens; rights and privileges, Askren; railroads, Frisse; manufacturers and commerce, Lyon; county and township business, Smith; Agriculture, Clore; benevolent and scientific institutions, Gifford; public morals, Seidensticker; mileage and accounts, Buennagel; corporations, Racey; rivers and waters, Coble; public expenditures, Galbraith; federal relations, Butcher; affairs of the city of Indianapolis, Wahl; cities and towns, Sunkel; phraseology of bills, Billman; health and vital statistics, Poor; correction of the Journal, Mr. Speaker; natural resources of the state, Wright; legislative appointment, Lieb; telegraph and telephone, Pleasants; soldiers' monument, Duncan; state soldiers' home and state soldiers' and sailors' orphans' home, Strickland; public libraries, Veach; drains and dykes, Osborn; engrossed bills, Wagner; roads, Keeney; statistics and immigration, Flitzer; insurance, Voris; printing, Wells; reformatory institutions, Keegan; criminal code, Wise; congressional apportionment, Maas; mines and mining, Hedricks; labor, Masselink; public buildings, Buennagel; enrolled bills, Corr; state library, Gifford; rules, Mr. Speaker; ministers, Tingle.

To Regulate Cold Storage.

The bill framed to regulate the cold storage of foodstuffs in Indiana has been placed in the hands of Dr. Frank Greenwell, senator from Allen county, for introduction. H. E. Barnard, state food and drug commissioner, drew up the bill and is greatly interested in its passage.

In preparing to draft the bill, Mr. Barnard obtained much data and a great many suggestions from Dr. H. W. Wiley, chief chemist for the department of agriculture, United States government, and a number of Dr. Wiley's ideas were included in the bill.

Under the law as proposed, cold storage matter will be registered and stamped on the date of its going into storage, so that inspectors going through the plant may know at any time just when any piece of food was placed there. A time limit, suitable to the class of foodstuff, is proposed in the bill. James L. Keach of this city, a commission merchant, has been reported as making preparations to fight the bill.

A bank guarantee law conforming to the plan of some of those in western states, has been drafted and has the approval of leading Democrats in the legislature. It provides for the assessment of the daily deposits of state banks to become a guarantee fund in the hands of the state. A state banking board consisting of the governor and two state officers is provided for in the bill.

Galesburg, Ill., Jan. 10.—During a fight on the street Sam Sotos was shot and killed. Gust Calavas is missing.

FOR A FEW DAYS

Son of the Late Senator Elkins Will Wear His Father's Toga.

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 10.—Governor Glasscock has announced the appointment of Davis Elkins as United States senator to succeed his father, Stephen B. Elkins. Young Elkins will occupy the seat for only a few days. A Democratic legislature will meet soon and elect a Democratic senator in the place of Stephen B. Elkins. A Democratic successor to Senator Nathan B. Scott (Rep.) will also be elected.

DO YOU GET YOUR MONEY'S WORTH?

Every day buying is becoming more of a science.

To buy the right kind of goods at the right prices requires discrimination and care—anyone can rush out and buy any old kind of goods from the first dealer he finds.

Some people fail to get the most for their money when it comes to buying their supplies, but are very particular about unimportant matters.

A great help in this direction are the advertisements of the merchants.

Before visiting the stores one can make the task comparatively easy by securing a great deal of information from the announcements of the dealers.

Then shopping can be more intelligently done.

A dealer's sins will sooner or later find him out if he makes a misstatement in his advertisement, and you may depend upon it that he can not keep it up for any great length of time.

It will lose him trade.

The dealer can not afford to misrepresent. He tells the public exactly what he has to sell and explains in honest terms the value of his goods. He is worthy of your confidence and can be depended upon implicitly. This dealer regularly makes his announcements through the columns of the newspapers.

Advertising is the searchlight which reveals true character and only the truth alone can stand regular advertising.

It will pay you to read the advertisements.

Is There a Reason?

It is little wonder that trouble and State legislatures are twin brothers or twin sisters, as you may see fit to call it. Indiana may be taken as a fair example of that genus known as legislature. The Indianapolis papers devote many columns daily to proposed legislation. Each and every representative and senator storms the Capitol city with his own pet measure tucked away in the inside pocket of his vest. Many of the measures would be helpful if made into laws, while just as many would be valueless.

That ever persistent desire to "make a showing" is in the heart of every legislator and hence the great influx of proposed bills. But who's to blame? It must be the people, who are represented in the legislature. Many individuals have their own possibly narrow ideas of measures which should be adopted to promote their own petty interests. The individuals approach their representative and demand that such a bill be proposed. He must propose it or he has made an enemy who may injure his possibilities for further activities in public life.

And again the people of a community demand too much of their representative. If a legislator visits the State house for two months and does not head any important legislation, he is useless, according to the popular opinion. So the representative, to gain popularity, which will assist him in rising higher, starts some sort of an agitation, which may push him out in the limelight. Let us suppose that every State representative and every State senator introduces a bill and how many would the legislature have to cope with? The State solons would be in continuous session all year at any rate.

Strange to relate, Shively will, at the special request of John W. Kern, present that distinguished office seeker as a candidate for United States senator, before the joint session of the General Assembly on Tuesday, January 17, says the Columbus Republican. Don't get excited, though, for the accommodating Mr. Shively is not the United States senator from Indiana, but is Senator Shively, from Grant county. With a bitter recollection of what happened on a former similar occasion Mr. Kern will doubtless sleep sounder after the 17, provided, of course—

There is a general disposition to predict trouble ahead for all the State legislatures now in session, and it is a safe prediction. Trouble and legislation have usually been side partners.

Most people know that politics is alluring to some men, but not many would turn down a $40,000 private job for a $5,000 political job as C. D. Norton, the President's secretary, is credited with having done.

Senator Hale was so successful in guessing his Democratic successor that some Maine folk are wondering if he didn't pull a few wires to aid him, says an editorial writer on a nearby paper.

It seems that a few insurgent papers can not get over the late and lamented difficulty, which resulted in the general and sweeping victory of the Democratic party. A real Republican must stand by and be accused of aiding in the victory of the opposing part, while hot heads wonder why their fanaticism can not gain ground in a county that has been made the greatest one in the world by its far-seeing and conservative statesmen. Fanatics all go the same route.

You never know what the supreme court will have to pass on. A decision expected shortly will determine whether proprietary medicines and articles can continue to be sold at "cut prices."

Winter and Trees.

A man with a pining for the past, who sits closest to the fire and waits loudest for one of the good old-fashioned winters, surely is getting what he wants this year. Of course, it may not continue, but up to this time the winter has been one of those you occasionally read about and often hear mentioned.

November was the coldest November in twenty years. December made a similar record. The fall season has been ideal winter. The temperature has not been cold in spots; it has been continuously low. The Christmas holidays were never ushered in with more reasonable weather.

The truth probably is that the old-fashioned winters were not so cold as they are represented. There is no reason why Indiana should have changed its weather within the last thirty or forty years and the temperatures of today are probably about the same as they were years ago. And it is likely, too, that the winters of today are a little more severe because the forests have been destroyed and man, beast and building are exposed to the northwest winds. The temperature is not lower, but the wind is freer.

In the early days the trees prevented the melting of the snow. Country roads were cut through the forests, and the trees and brush grew thickly on each side of the highway. The snow remained on the ground in those times when it would have melted in the more open country. This probably gave the impression of a more continuous cold than really existed.

If it is the trees and not the cold that the old-timer really repines for, then we agree with him. The destruction of Indiana forests is a disgrace. Within fifty miles of Boston there are more forests than there are within fifty miles of Rushville.

MILL IS GOING UP.

The mill building which is being erected on the site of the old mill at the foot of South Morgan street, which will be used by C. J. Bickhart, who will move his machinery here from St. Paul, is now well under way. The cement foundation has been completed and already much of the frame work is up.

JOINS HER BROTHER

Sister of Banker Robin Now Also in Tombs Prison.

New York, Jan. 10.—Dr. Louise Robinovitch, sister of Joseph G. Robin, the indicted banker, was indicted for perjury by the grand jury, and in default of $3,000 bail was committed to the Tombs prison, where her brother is. The indictment was based on her affidavit last week that she and her brother, Edward Robinson, were the only next of kin of Joseph G. Robin. She swore to the statement on a motion to have Robin adjudged incompetent.

Herman and Elksa Robinovitch, who say they are the parents of Robin and Dr. Robinovitch, were the principal witnesses against the doctor before the grand jury. Edward Robinson, brother of Robin, said that he had always considered the elderly couple to be his parents and had always spoken to them and of them as father and mother.

TRACTION MEN NEAR AGREEMENT

Representatives of Interurban Lines And Indiana Railroad Commission Get Together.

ADOPT PRESENTED MEASURES

Railway Officials Agree on Plans to Prevent Accidents on Lines in Future.

That the Railroad Commission of Indiana and the interurban operators either have reached an agreement or are approaching an agreement upon all the recommendations of the commission for the prevention of accidents has been stated in an official source says the Indianapolis Star. The block signals committee and the committee on lengths of service as a requirements for conductors will make final reports to the commission Jan. 24.

The interurban operators have agreed to accept the one-year service requirement as a qualification for motormen and conductors on condition that they be permitted to employ men having less than one year's experience in cases of absolute necessity, the reasons in each case to be filed with the commission. The Railroad Commission has agreed to this condition, it is stated. The committee on length of service consists of Charles L. Henry, president of the I. & C.; W. G. Irwin, president of the I. C. & S.; C. E. Morgan, general manager of the Ben-Hur route, and H. A. Nichol, general manager of the I. U. T.

The committee on the block signals, of which Arthur W. Brady, president of the I. U. T., is chairman, was continued at the conference held last Thursday. This committee wanted more time to investigate different systems before submitting a final report. At the first conference, held early in December, the operators agreed to install a system of some kind, and the question of what is the best system is the only one yet undecided.

At the conference last Thursday the double order system recommended by the committee was approved by the Railroad Commission and will be installed. Governor Marshall is given credit for the adjudication of the difference between the Railroad Commission and the operators, because it was he who called the first conference and made possible the agreement about to be realized.

AMUSEMENTS

The Paace will have a great Western drama for tonight, entitled "The Rustlers." The picture shows the life of the cowboy as it really is. There is a pretty romance in the story which adds interest to the picture. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Vaudet will have Wagoner's orchestra for tonight as an extra attraction. This orchestra pleased large audiences the last time it appeared at this theater. The regular two reels of pictures will also be shown. The first is an Imp film, "Willie." The other is a Bison, entitled "The Tie That Binds." A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Star-Grand will present a great Russian play tonight which is acted by the Yankee film company, entitled "In The Czar's Name." It is a semi-religious film drama of Jewish life in Russia. Earl Robertson will sing "Come Along My Mandy."

"The Tree on the Tower" is the title of a new song, the words and music of which were written by J. Falconer Fraser, a former pastor of the First Baptist church at Greensburg, which has just been published by the C. T. Eward Publishing company of Greensburg. Clarence T. Eward will be remembered as the Greensburg composer and soloist who was featured at the Star Grand theater here recently. He sings the song by the former Greensburg pastor and will be here Wednesday evening of this week to sing "The Tree on the Tower" at the Star Grand theater as a special attraction.

The new song, which is a popular melody is written in commemoration of the real tree on the court house tower in Greensburg. If for nothing else, the county seat of Decatur county has become famous all over Indiana for the unusual growth on the tower. It is heralded far and near as a rank infringement on nature's laws and it is to that end that the song is written.

Everyone familiar with the big success of the theater will rejoice in the announcement that "Madame Sherry" is coming. Most playgoers are cognizant of the rare privilege inferred in an announced opportunity to witness this musical sensation of a generation. The engagement at English Opera House, in Indianapolis will be for three nights and a matinee, beginning Thursday, January 12. The original New York New Amsterdam Theater company, or rather one of the original alternate companies, whose members have been interchanging appearances in the merry novelty during the New York run, will distinguish the local engagement. "Madame Sherry's" fame as a mirthful and musical novelty is already widespread. No score—and there are 22 delightful numbers in this production—in the record of musical comedy achievement has so quickly become a rage. It has been specially staged by George W. Lederer, who gave the country some of its most sensational musical successes of prior seasons, notably "The Belle of New York," "In Gay New York," "The Whirl of the Town," "The Rounders," "La Belle Holono," "The Telephone Girl," etc.

Legislator Wants To Change Method of Superintendent's Selection.

Legislation that would bring about a change in the method of selecting county school superintendents likely will be introduced early in the present session of the Legislature, Senator Stephen A. Powers of Angola is preparing a bill that will provide for the election of county superintendents by popular vote. At present the superintendents are chosen by the township trustees. In some of the counties where the trustees are of different political parties there frequently is "bad blood" among them in the selection of the school superintendents, and it is said it frequently happens the schools suffer thereby.

TO BEATIFY MONK WHO HAD GIFT OF PROPHECY.

Said Cholera Would Force Pope to Jerusalem in 1911.

Don Bosco, the founder of the Salesian order, is believed by his followers to have had the gift of predicting future events, and several of his prophecies are now being examined by the congregation of rites with a view to his beatification.

A French nun who knew Don Bosco in Paris declares that he told her that "in the year 1911 cholera would break out in the Eternal City and that the pope would go to Jerusalem."

The beatification process of Don Bosco has recently been examined by Pius X, who was impressed by this prediction.

It is likely that the first part of it will come true, since it is probable that there will be an outbreak of cholera in Rome soon. The second part may also be verified in the following fashion:

In the year 999 Pope Sylvester II. was told that his pontificate would end "when he said mass in Jerusalem," and the prophecy was fulfilled four years later when the pope died while celebrating mass on Quinquagesima Sunday in the Church of Santa Croce of Gerusalemme, so called because it was built by St. Helena to receive the relic of the true cross brought by her from Jerusalem.

This church, which is one of the seven patriarchal basilicas of Rome, still contains the original subterranean chapel erected by St. Helena, the floor of which was strewn with earth brought by her from Jerusalem.

In the memoirs of Signor Bondi, who was for many years police commissioner of the Borgo and consequently in close contact with the Vatican, it is stated that Pius X. was on the point of leaving the Vatican at the time of the Messina earthquake, as he felt it was his duty to accomplish a charitable mission, and it is not impossible that in case of a cholera outbreak in Rome the pope may leave the Vatican and go to venerate the relics in the Church of the Holy Cross of Jerusalem.

CHAPTER XX.

A Moonlit Day.

The midday moon had changed the somber purple of the snow to silver. The snow lay everywhere, save upon the vertical face of the cliff itself, an unrent, immaculate mantle over all this arctic world. The valley, the hills, the beach and the frozen sea all lay at peace beneath it, as if asleep or dead.

To Cayley, where he lay, suspended in midsky, the moonlight gleaming upon the sensitive fabric of his planes, as it gleams upon the faint ripples on a mill pond in the dead of some June night—to Cayley this white, sleeping, frozen world looked very far away. He was a-wing for the first time since that eternity ago when he had descended upon the beach beside Jeanne to warn her of the approach of the bear.

How long ago that was, by the measure of hours and days and weeks, he did not know. He had no data for an estimate that would be better than a guess. He remembered how desperately they had worked that night, saving what they could from the burning hut and carrying it back into the cave; remembered with what labor he and Jeanne had climbed the ice chimney to the only shelter that now remained to them, the little pilot house observatory upon the cliff-head; remembered the unremitting labor of uncounted hours while they adjusted their way of life to the conditions imposed by the calamitous loss of the hut.

But after that there were lapses of time which memory did not cover. During that time he knew the utmost fury of the arctic winter had been raging over them, without cessation. They had been sheltered from it down in the heart of the great drift of snow which the storm had heaped about them. But, even in this security the shock of those successive paroxysms of nature's titanic rage reached down and benumbed them, body and soul.

But at last the rage of the storm had spent itself and had become still. The bitterness of the cold relaxed and became milder. Cayley had felt the blood stirring in his veins again, the power of consecutive thought and the ambition to live, coming once more into his possession. He had gone to work, feebly and drowsily at first, but with constantly increasing energy and strength, at the task of opening up, once more, the tunnel through the drift which the great storm had choked.

When he had broken through the outer crust of the drift, and the white radiance of the midday moon shone into the black tunnel where he had been working, he stood for a moment drawing deep breaths and gazing over the scene which lay beneath his eyes. He hastened back into the little pilot house.

Jeanne was dozing upon a heap of bear-skins. He roused her with some

SAGE FOR DARKENING THE HAIR.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance, they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair with wonderfully beneficial effect. Nowadays we don't have to resort to the old-time, tiresome method of gathering the herbs and making the brew. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of Sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy. This preparation is sold by all first-class druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

difficulty; really waking up had been a hard matter lately, almost as hard as really getting off to sleep. She was still drowsy when he led her along the tunnel to the cliff-head.

"Breathe deep," he told her. "We were half poisoned in there. This air will bring you back to life again, it and the moonlight."

He had been supporting her with his arm about her waist, but now, as she held herself a little straighter and he could feel her lungs expanding with the pure air she breathed, he withdrew the arm and let her stand alone. Even the white moonlight revealed the color that was coming back into her cheeks.

For a while she did not speak at all; then, as if replying to a comment of his, she said:

"Yes, it's beautiful. . . . But, Philip, it's dead. Dead."

"Not this air that has ozone sparkling all through it. It is alive enough to make your blood dance. It's doing that now."

He tried to persuade her to take a little exercise along the length of the tunnel, but she demurred to that. Instead, she asked him to bring out some bear-skins and let her sit there at the cliff-head looking out.

"And," she supplemented, "if you want to know what I should like most of all, it would be to have you bring your wings so that I can see you flying again, and a field-glass that I can watch you through."

He felt some hesitation, partly out of a fear of leaving her and partly from a doubt concerning his own strength; but neither of these reasons was one he cared to avow. So he unfurled the bundle that had lain unused so long, spread and tightened and tested it, and at last, with a nod of farewell to the girl, dived off the cliff-head.

Any doubt he may have had concerning his strength disappeared at once. The mere touch of those great wings of his seemed to bring it all back, and hope and joy and confidence along with it.

He made his dive as shallow as possible, and in the sheer exuberance of delight at being once more a-wing, he beat his way aloft again by main strength, towering like a falcon. All his old power was here unimpaired, yet every sensation it brought him was heightened and made thrilling by long disuse. By means of those great, obedient wings of his he played upon the capricious, vagrant air with the superb insolence of mastery. Every trick of flight was at his command, the flashing dive of the piratical frigate bird, the corkscrew spiral of the tern, the plummet-like pounce of the hawk, and, at last, the majestic, soaring drift of the king of them all, the albatross.

So he hung there in midsky, and the world, white, frozen, immaculate—looked far away. The old, god-like serenity, untroubled, untrammelled, unafraid, came back to him. The soul opened its gates, up there, lost its boundaries, and all the spirit of the sky came in, immense, cold, clear as

A NEW HAVEN CHILD

Restored to Health by Vinol—Case Interests Many Parents.

"My little daughter ever since her birth had been frail and sickly, and was a constant source of worry. Several months ago I secured a bottle of Vinol and commenced to give it to her. I immediately noted an improvement in her health and appearance. I gave her three bottles of Vinol, and from the good it has done her I can truly say it will do all you claim, and I want to recommend Vinol to any one who desires to build up a weakened, run-down system."—J. Edmund Miller, New Haven, Conn. (We guarantee this testimonial to be strictly genuine.)

This child's recovery was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements of the cods' livers,—aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron, which are contained in Vinol,—and the strongest evidence that Vinol will build up and strengthen delicate children, old people, and the weak, run-down and debilitated, is our willingness to return the purchase money in every case where it fails to give complete satisfaction. F. B. Johnson & Co., Druggists, Rushville, Ind.

the all-pervading ether. This was Nirvana, though the old Buddhist adepts who had philosophized about it had never conquered the sky, had never bathed in it as Cayley on his wings was bathing now.

The declining moon sank lower, till the refracting ice crystals that filled the air caught its light slantwise and danced with it so that it flickered like a will-o'-the-wisp. The sky deepened from its bright steel-blue to purple. The silver light upon the snow faded, through lavender and lilac, to a purple of its own, only less deep than that of the sky itself. But the stars burned brighter and brighter, until it almost seemed they sang:

"Harping in loud and solemn choir
With unexpressive notes. . . ."

The words projected themselves quite unsought into his mind. He spent a moment or two, wondering where they came from, and then it came to him. It was a part of two lines from the "Hymn on the Nativity."

Somehow, the thought of Christmas gave his soul a wrench that brought it back into the world again. They had lost their reckoning of time, and, for anything he knew, this might be Christmas day. Perhaps those stars were carolling their Christmas chimes. Perhaps, down in the world of men, the windows were hung with holly and doorways with mistletoe.

Before his thoughts had advanced as far as that he was flying down toward the cliff-head. He could only guess at the length of time that had elapsed since he left Jeanne, on her heap of skins, there in the mouth of the snow tunnel. It must have been an hour or more, for the moon had been shining when he started, and now almost the last of its twilight had died on the horizon.

A sharp sense of his own delinquency in having left her to her own resources for so long, when she had so few resources to draw upon, increased to a sudden alarm for her safety, when he made out the black mouth of the tunnel and saw that there was no light at the farther end of it. She couldn't have been waiting all this time, out in the cold; and yet his eyes, as he hovered, seeking the exact spot to alight, certainly made out a dark object lying there upon the snow. His heart felt like lead as he dropped close beside it, and scrambled clear of his wings.

It was Jeanne; and for a moment he thought she was dead. She seemed as white and cold as the snow itself. And yet she was not dead; not even frozen. The hands he chafed so

Foley Kidney Pills.

Are tonic in action, quick in results. A special medicine for all kidney and bladder disorders. John Adler, Greenfield, Ind., says, "My wife had been down with a severe case of kidney trouble for some time and nothing seemed to help or even give relief she started taking Foley Kidney Pills. They absolutely cured her and in a very short time. She is pleased to be able to recommend them to anyone suffering from kidney or bladder trouble as a quick and permanent cure. Sold by F. B. frantically were inert, but not rigid; and, as he drew her up in his arms and pressed his head down against her breast, he could hear, very faintly and slowly, the beating of her heart.

He picked her up in his arms and carried her into the pilot house. The air here was still warmer than that out of doors, but it was no longer exhausted and poisonous.

He laid her down for long enough to light the lamp, to throw off his stiff leather jacket and to get a little brandy out of the keg. This he mixed with a little water and, with the aid of a small ivory spoon, he succeeded in getting a little of it between her lips.

He took off her heavy seal coat, and the woolen jacket she wore under it, and, as well as he could, loosened the other clothing about her waist. Last of all, he gathered her up in his arms again, wrapped the great sheep-skin bag about them both, and, with the brandy and water within arm's reach, settled down to attempt to get some of the warmth and vitality of his own body into hers.

She was not fully unconscious now, for the next time he offered her brandy she swallowed it. Her eyelids were fluttering a little, too, and presently she sighed.

He was thrilling all over with a tremendous sense of power. He felt he could have brought her back from the very dead. His arteries seemed to be running with electricity, not blood.

Her lips were moving now, and he bent close to catch the whisper that barely succeeded in passing them.

"Don't—bring me back—Philip. It's—so much—easier to go—this way."

His only reply to that was to hold her a little closer.

To be continued.

UNCLE SAM TOOK THAT $700,000

Compromise From Sugar Trust Was Accepted.

BETTER THAN TO PROSECUTE

In Accepting the Sugar Trust's Offer of Cold Cash Rather Than Prosecute the Drawback Cases, the Government Acted on the Theory of a Bird in the Hand—Lawyer Beck's Part in the Settlement.

Washington, Jan. 10.—In full settlement of the drawback cases in which the sugar trust at the port of New York defrauded the treasury of large sums of money, the United States government will accept the compromise offer of $700,000. The $700,000 which was first deposited in the United States sub-treasury in New York, is now in the vaults of the treasury here. In taking up the compromise offer the government will assume the attitude that it has not sufficient grounds for prosecution. The sum of $700,000 in hard cash has been thought better by officials than a suit which might not result favorably for the government. The decision to accept the $700,000 was reached after a thorough investigation. The sugar trust presented for the consideration of the officials a petition setting forth the reasons for the compromise offer, signed by James M. Beck and Wickham Smith, attorneys for the trust. It will not be made public.

Compromise Figures Forced Up.

According to some officials of the department, the trust was gradually forced up in its compromise figures. At first, according to the story, it made an offer of $250,000. This was not considered here and the ante was raised to $500,000, which at the time was said to be absolutely the limit. The treasury department still refused to accept this amount. Then the trust agreed to swell it to $700,000. Consideration of the facts by experts ended in the conclusion to accept rather than try to fight. The acceptance of this sum for frauds at New York does not affect the frauds recently revealed that may result in claims by the government at New Orleans and San Francisco.

MONEY BACK

Hyomei Cures Catarrh Without Stomach Dosing, or Money Back.

Yes, dear reader, catarrh can be cured; but not by pouring vile, nauseating drugs into the stomach.

You've got to kill the catarrh germs, that's all there is to it, before you can cure catarrh.

And catarrh germs thrive, flourish and multiply in the nose and throat.

Can you kill these tough and persistent little health destroyers by swallowing pills or nostrum? Any physician will tell you it cannot be done.

HYOMEI (pronounced High-o-me) is a germ killing vaporized air which, when breathed either through the mouth or nose, will kill catarrh germs and soothe and heal the inflamed and mutilated membrane promptly. It gives relief in two minutes.

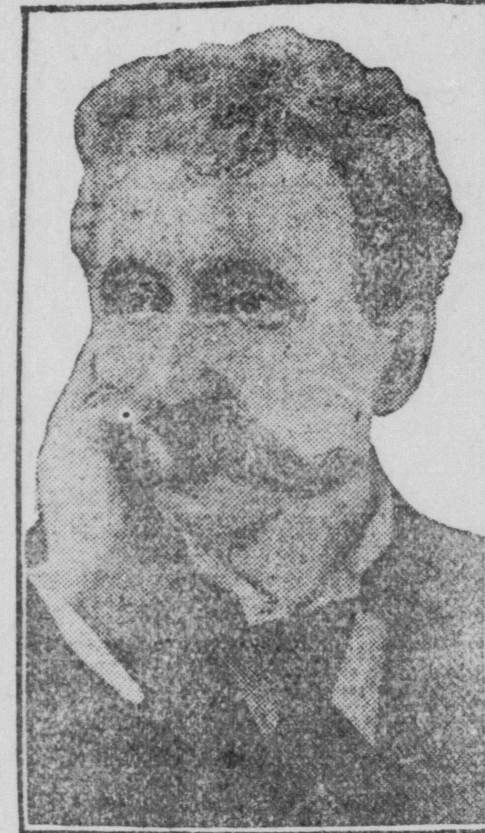

HYOMEI is such a powerful germ destroyer that it penetrates every fold and crevice of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat.

LORIMER'S SEAT IN SENATE ATTACKED

Beveridge's Resolution Declares His Election Invalid.

Washington, Jan. 10.—With a contest between Senators Beveridge of Indiana and Owen of Oklahoma, both of whom contested for the right to fire the first gun in the same cause, the fight to prevent Senator Lorimer of Illinois retaining his seat in the United States senate was opened.

Senator Beveridge, by virtue of being a member of the committee on privileges and elections which investigated charges of bribery against Lorimer gained a tactical victory by filing a minority report attacking the position of his colleagues on the committee who voted to exonerate the Illinois senator.

Senator Owen, however, introduced a resolution to declare the election of Senator Lorimer illegal and void, but he was not permitted to address the senate in its support. The senate held that the resolution, under the rules, would have to go over.

Mr. Beveridge then submitted his report, the conclusion of which was: "That this election was invalid under any possible view of the law. If the senate so concludes, it is our duty so to declare. Therefore I submit the following resolution:

"Resolved, that William Lorimer was not duly and legally elected to a seat in the senate of the United States by the legislature of the state of Illinois."

Before the report was filed, Senator Lorimer made a brief speech declaring his innocence of bribery, and the innocence of his friends of any participation in corrupt practices in connection with his election. He announced his intention to be present during the discussion of his case.

SCHENK CASE TO BE A BIG LEGAL BATTLE

Lawyers Outline Their Respective Positions.

Wheeling, W. Va., Jan. 10.—J. P. O'Brien in his opening statement to the jury in the famous poisoning case now on trial in the criminal court said: "Laura Schenk is the victim of a conspiracy, and the head of that conspiracy has been Albert Schenk, brother of John O. Schenk. This weak woman has been hounded by Albert Schenk and her arrest for a crime of which she is not guilty was at the instigation of her brother-in-law. Ever since Laura Schenk and her husband were united in marriage, Albert Schenk has endeavored to part them. On more than one occasion he has forced her to leave the Schenk meat store when she stopped to see her husband. We know that Mrs. Schenk is not guilty of the crime for which she is being tried. It is true, we admit, that poison was administered to J. O. Schenk, but his wife knew nothing of it. It was given him, but Mrs. Schenk's hand was not the one that gave it."

In his opening statement to the jury, J. B. Handland, prosecuting attorney, said that the state would prove that Mrs. Schenk administered arsenic to her husband and sugar of lead, and that the motive she had for killing him was that she might secure all the money he had.

Albert Schenk, whom Mr. O'Brien charges with being the head of the conspiracy, is himself a millionaire and several years ago was a candidate for the United States senate against Senator N. B. Scott.

A BAD COMBINATION

Two Boys and a Gun Results in Death For One Lad.

Pana, Ill., Jan. 10.—Too much reality was injected into a sham Indian warfare here, and Antone Machez, thirteen years of age, is dead as a result, killed by his chum, George Satolis, nine years of age. Machez's head was blown completely off with a discharge of shot from the Springfield rifle held in the hands of Satolis. Satolis is not under arrest. The two boys were playing various games when Machez suggested "playing Indian." Satolis agreed. Several forms of mimicry were tried when finally Satolis secured a gun. "Look out, I'm going to shoot," he warned Machez. With this he fired.

NOT ABLE TO SAY JUST WHAT IT IS

"Monopoly" Is Still Undefined By Government.

HIGH COURT ASKS QUESTIONS

In Reargument of the Tobacco Trust Case, the Insistent Fire of Questions From the Supreme Bench Seeking a Definition From Government Attorney of What Is a Monopoly Failed to Elicit Satisfactory Answer.

Washington, Jan. 10.—The failure of the government's attorney, in reply to questions asked by the court, to define what, in the government's opinion, is the essential element of a monopoly, was the most important development in the re-argument of the tobacco trust case before the supreme court. The government later may clear up this point, but as matters now stand counsel apparently has no definite contention to offer on this important subject. Repeated efforts were made by different members of the court to elicit from J. C. McReynolds, counsel for the government, just what the theory of the government attorneys is on this point, but he failed to give a response satisfactory to the court. The government counsel seemed to be considerably embarrassed near the conclusion of his argument by the running fire of questions asked from the bench.

The American Tobacco company, in the arguments, was denounced as a lawless, gigantic conspiracy in restraint of trade, operating in contradiction of the Sherman anti-trust law. It was also portrayed as a model industrial concern that had evolved under economic conditions entirely beyond its control into a benevolent assimilative corporation that had increased business, added to the dividends of investors, and raised the price of leaf tobacco, thus benefiting the growers.

The Borderland of Doubt.
 Mr. McReynolds, special counsel for the government, assailed the trust and asked the court to order its dissolution. Delancey Nicoll, attorney for the trust, pointed out its virtues and declared that it had not transgressed the law. McReynolds would not satisfy the manifest desire of the court to learn the government's theory as to the essential element of a monopoly. He replied that the tobacco case came within former decisions of the court and suggested that he would not advise the court to venture out into a territory beyond the actual requirements presented by this case. He referred to a "borderland" in the construction of the Sherman law in which opinions were varied and which nobody apparently understood, and advised the court to keep out of the borderland as long as possible.

The suggestion of the "borderland" of legal doubt appeared to interest Chief Justice White, and he pursued his questioning by asking Mr. McReynolds to do the court the service of leading it up to a point where certainty ceased and the borderland of doubt began. As the grilling continued, Attorney General Wickersham became very nervous and tried to prompt Mr. McReynolds.

The nearest Mr. McReynolds would come to a definition of what constituted a monopoly was to invite the court's attention to the decision of Justice McKenna in the Shawnee Compress case, in which the court held that the "essential element" in a monopoly is the power to control prices.

Fell Asleep Near Fire.
 Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 10.—Miss Lillian Lifford, aged nineteen, daughter of Abe Lifford of Ellettsville, was perhaps fatally burned. She built a fire in the cookstove, after which she sat down in a chair and fell asleep. When she awoke her body was enveloped in flames and her clothing was burned off her before the family reached her. She may recover.

Watchman Uses His Gun.
 Jamestown, Ind., Jan. 10.—John Adair, night watchman, is under bond on the charge of attempt to kill Frank Robbins, a livyerman. The men quarreled over payment for a broken pane of glass. When Adair drew his revolver, Robbins seized him, but Adair threw his arm back of him and fired. The bullet entered the thigh of Robbins.

Rounded Up With Pitchforks.
 Bedford, Ind., Jan. 10.—Harry Adams and Carl Anderson, who are alleged to have robbed the Malott store and postoffice last Thursday night, are in jail. They were caught by Malott and some farmers near Heltonville and were rounded up with pitchforks and shotguns. A clue was furnished by a young man named Letcher, at Pinhook, who found discarded clothing and cartridge boxes.

JUDGE CARPENTER AGAINST PACKERS

Denied the Motion To Prevent Prosecution.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Judge Carpenter, in the United States district court, denied the motion of the indicted beef packers who sought to prevent the government attorneys from prosecuting them under the criminal statutes, alleging that the district court had no jurisdiction because Judge Grosscup, in the United States circuit court, had issued an injunction in 1903 restraining the packers from doing what the federal lawyers are now trying to prosecute them for.

Judge Carpenter surprised even the government's counsel by the severity of his ruling, which was that the district attorney not only had the right to proceed against the packers both by prosecution and by prayer for an injunction, but that congress had directed him to institute both proceedings at the same time. The decision held that the injunction was a warning to the packers not to do it again and that punishment for contempt of that warning could not be construed as a punishment for the misdemeanor itself and could not operate to prevent prosecution.

BLOOD ON CLOTHES

Taken as Circumstantial Evidence Against a Rhode Island Negro.

Providence, R. I., Jan. 10.—Clifford Thompson, a negro, was positively identified as the man seen in the store of Mrs. Minka Fine between the time that the murder of Mrs. Fine was committed and the time that the body was found. Thompson lives just around the corner from the store, and was arrested. The police found a vest upon which were four large bloodstains, and a coat, the front of which was slashed in several places. The coat looks as if it had been torn with a fork, and the police theory is that Mrs. Fine defended herself with the fork which her assailant later used to mutilate her body.

Montana Senatorial Contest.

Helena, Mont., Jan. 10.—The Montana legislature will begin balloting today to choose the successor of Senator Thomas H. Carter, Republican, and the indications are that no candidate will receive a majority. Efforts to bring about a Democratic caucus have fallen flat. Several members are pledged to vote for W. A. Clark, while fifteen are pledged against him, and as the Democrats have a majority of only five on joint ballot, one member being absent, the millionaire is regarded as eliminated for the time. Lieutenants of both Walsh and W. G. Conrad profess to have a majority.

Porter Charlton's Case.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 10.—Because of the failure of the state department at Washington to forward the documents required in the case, Judge Rellstab, in the United States circuit court, has postponed for two weeks the further hearing in the habeas corpus proceedings instituted to secure the release of Porter Charlton, who murdered his wife and sank the body in Lake Como, Italy.

HAS PLAN TO GET BACK TO FARM

Senator E. E. Moore of Connersville, Rush County's Joint Senator,
Has Cure For Epidemic.

WOULD LIMIT SIZE OF FARM

Believes Restricted Ownership of Land Might Lure Country
Boy Back Home.

To limit the ownership of large tracts of land by wealthy men as investments is suggested as a means of turning young men "back to the farm," made by Senator E. E. Moore of Connersville, representing Fayette, Rush and Hancock counties in the Upper House, says the Indianapolis Star. Senator Moore says he has not fully decided yet to introduce the bill to enact such a law, but after thinking it over he has come to the conclusion that the trend of young men from the farm might be lessened by limiting the number of acres which any one person can own.

Senator Moore suggests that such a law might reserve farmland to the use of those who actually live upon and till it. He says it might be a good idea to limit the number of acres to one section of land (640 acres) and require those who own in excess of that amount to sell their surplus holding within a given number of years.

Senator Moore has been "thinking over the question quite a bit," he says, but he got his last "cue" from an assertion made recently by Prof.
Christie of Purdue University, in which the educator declared that girls are responsible for luring young men away from farms to cities. On this Mr. Moore takes issue with Prof.
Christie, saying the real cause for the cityward movement is the fact that so many men are not needed on the farms now as they once were because of the introduction of modern machinery.

"I have seen many theories advanced, particularly since the figures of the last census were announced, accounting for the halt in the growth of our farming population," said Mr.
Moore. "Some charge it all to the business and professional attractions of the city, others to loneliness or the humdrum existence of country life;
and finally, I note, that according to Professor Christie of Purdue University, the girls are to blame.
Doubtless some truth is in all these philosophies, but so far no one has set forth the real and underlying reason which I consider the most responsible. This reason is wholly economic.

"The work of farm development is all done now. The farms are cleared, fenced and drained and permanent improvements made. Thus is the necessity for much labor dispensed with by the present generation, enjoying the fruits of the industry of the generation past. But that is not all. Present day farmers have machinery and implements that enable one man to do the work of many, as compared with the primitive conditions just described.

These facts, and the greater profit attending agriculture in recent years, have led to the 'joining of field unto field' by the more successful, and the manning of the industry of farming by a smaller force.

"In short, fewer people are needed on the farms. Business is business, on the farm no less than elsewhere, and the workers not needed have to seek employment in other fields.

"Yet, notwithstanding the fact that the thinning out of the rural population follows as a logical and perfectly natural sequence, the changed conditions explained, I consider it a civic and sociological misfortune.

"The question then arises, is there a remedy? I have thought much along this line, and am trying to figure if it would not be a good thing for the General Assembly to pass a law preventing land ownership by wealthy men simply as investments.
In this way the land might be reserved to men who actually live upon and till it. The terms of such a law might require merely that no one person, firm or corporation be allowed to acquire or own more than a certain number of acres of agricultural land in the State, and those already owning more than such stated maximum be required within a fixed term of years to sell their surplus holdings.

A section of land might be an appropriate maximum.

"I have not yet decided to introduce such a bill, but I think the subject well worth considering. Such a law in time would undoubtedly repeople the country districts, re-establish our fast disappearing district schools and infuse new life into the dying crossroads country church, which in the past has filled so important a mission."
